The Tuesday morning ritual - final production of the paper. Three articles by SRP (Dottle & the slain geese; handcuffs; the "Made in Carbondale" exhibition). The "Made in Carbondale" article gave/gives me a great deal of pleasure. The other two articles I hope will give Joan Cosgrove and Mitch Dottle some pleasure -- they are intended to. In the middle of the Tuesday morning chaos, JVB appeared. He will take the National Guard mental exam ($3\frac{1}{2}$ hours) today, and so he is not in school. He gave me a copy of the Pioneer Days parade photo of the CHSM delegation in front of Crocker's. He, or one of his colleagues at the school, developed the picture. JVB still has the negative and I will need more copies of the print, the copy of which John gave me yesterday is shown below.

I can see what appear to be chemicals on the surface of this print and I fear that it has not been properly washed or processed. I am very fond of the photograph.
